FirstWave confirms new channel to domestic SME market with launch of new Telstra cyber-security offer

Highlights:

- FirstWave confirms additional market channel to SMEs with Telstra
- Telstra launches new bundle cyber-security offer to small and medium businesses
- The new bundle includes Telstra's Internet Protection email and web security products

Leading Australian-headquartered global cloud security technology company, FirstWave Cloud Technology Limited (ASX: FCT) (FirstWave), confirms Telstra has successfully launched their new cyber-security offerings for small and medium enterprises (SMEs) opening new channel access for FirstWave's products.

As announced by Telstra, the new SME cyber-security offering comprises three components which includes an enterprise grade protection for web and email, a quarterly diagnostic review including vulnerability testing and a regular education email for small business owners and their staff. The immediate attraction for Australia's millions of SMEs is that the cyber-security service is enterprise-grade built from Telstra's existing Internet Protection email and web offering with FirstWave.

This offering addresses the perennial SME challenge of managing cost, expertise and time associated with the biggest emerging threat to their business.

More information on the offering is available here - <https://exchange.telstra.com.au/bringing-our-best-security-services-to-australias-small-businesses/>

This new SME offer expands FirstWave's domestic business channel penetration from enterprise down to small businesses and has the potential to increase domestic annualised recurring revenue by between 5-10% over the next 24-36 months.
